Senator From Kansas Tells Delegates to Wheat Conference, That Board is Gambling Den

500 WHEAT MEN ATTEND

Conference is Held to Devise a Way of Increasing Wheat Prices, to Protect Farmers

Chicago, Ill., June 19.—The Chicago Board of Trade has become the world's greatest gambling place and works against the interest of both the producer and the consumer, Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, told five hundred delegates to the National Wheat conference here today.

The conference is being held to devise a way of increasing wheat prices.

"By operating 'bears' on the market, prices were adjusted to bring profit to the speculator at the expense of the man who grew the grain and the man who really consumes it," Capper declared.

"In the famous 'May squeeze' of a year ago, a few speculators cleaned up more than two million dollars within twenty-four hours through their operations on board of trade. That two million dollars was more by far than all the farmers of Kansas were paid for their entire crop."

"To protect the farmer and the consumer, Capper urged the organization of a co-operated wheat marketing association."

"Our present system of distribution is the most expensive and inefficient of any country on earth. When the consumer buys a dollar's worth of farm products, less than thirty cents of the consumer's dollar reaches the farmer," he asserted.

"A real commodity marketing association such as that used by the raisin, cotton and tobacco producers, would place the business of wheat growing on a basis where it could be handled in a more intelligent way," he said.

Chicago, June 19.—The first national wheat conference of 500 delegates opened here today to "put wheat back on its throne."

Farmers, bankers, millers, grain dealers, implement manufacturers and representatives of transportation interests gathered with the avowed intention of increasing the price the farmer receives for his wheat.

With warm weather and rain over the grain belt giving promise of a good crop in most sections and prices on the principal grain exchanges slumping heavily the probability of a successful outcome was Continued on Page Three.

TO REMODEL K. OF P. BUILDING

Lodge Votes to Spend $3,000 on Proposed Improvements

The Knights of Pythias lodge transacted important business Monday night at their regular meeting, when it was voted to remodel the interior of the building, at the corner of Morgan and Second streets. An appropriation called for an expenditure of $3,000.

The present dance floor and banquet hall on the first floor will be partitioned with a removable wall, and pool tables installed on one side, and other recreation devices on the other.

The present lodge room on the second floor will be relaid with hardwood, and can be used as a dance floor, as well as a lodge room. The removable partition down stairs will not disturb the banquet room.

MERCURY CLIMBS AT SUMMER PACE

Sunday, Monday and Today Break All Records of Summer With Temperature Reaching 89

HOTTER IN OTHER PLACES

Weather is Regarded Most Beneficial For Rush County Crops—Prosperations at Chicago

The weather man is now setting a real summer pace, and forcing the mercury up to almost the ninety mark, with the temperature for the last three days breaking all records for the summer, and each day 89 degrees, has been the highest point reached, according to the government station in charge of Elwood Kirkwood.

Sunday, Monday and today the mercury shot to the 89 degree mark, and the indications point to even warmer weather Wednesday. The report is for fair and continued warm tonight and Wednesday. A slight breeze today helped to furnish relief. The nights are also warm, with the mercury dropping only to the vicinity of 70.

Rushville and the county is not the only place that is sweltering, because similar conditions exist elsewhere, with Chicago reporting 92 degrees, Ft. Wayne and Toledo 90, Indianapolis and Terre Haute 88 and Cincinnati 92.

The weather, however, is regarded as most helpful to the crops, and corn and wheat are now making good strides in Rush county.

Chicago, June 19. A heat wave taking a toll of seven deaths in Chicago in 36 hours swept the middle west today.

After yesterday's high of 91, the mercury again early today started climbing, sending thousands to bathing beaches for relief. Heat deaths in Chicago included: D. A. Kitch, 68; Charles Carlson, 62; Wm. R. Ryan, 50; Mrs. Jennie Jenkins, 85; Mrs. Kindall Warner, 20; Donald R. Hill, 8 and Stanford Waddy, 12.

There were dozens of prostrations. Continued on Page Five Several of the local members are attending the International Convention this week at St. Louis.

TO BUILD THREE NEW DORMITORIES

To Replace Every One of Wooden Buildings at the State Penal Farm Trustees Declare

TO BE 200 FEET IN LENGTH

Brick Made at Institution's Plant Will be Used For The New Building According to Plan

Greencastle, Ind., June 19.—Although constructed less than ten years ago, every one of the wooden buildings at the State penal farm must be replaced soon, according to the trustees, who have decided to forego the erection of an Administration building with the $40,000 provided by the last Legislature in order that three brick dormitories, each 200 feet long, may be provided for the prisoners.

Brick made at the institution's plant will be used for the new buildings, because it is the plan of the present board to follow Governor McCray's program of substantial construction work, the board members asserting that no economy results from the building of wooden slacks. When founded by Governor Ralston, more than $100,000 was spent for the development of the institution and a half-dozen dormitories of the army barrack type were erected to house the prisoners.

A survey of the physical condition of the property by Superintendent Howard shows that every one of the wooden dormitories needs replacement. The floors are in bad condition, being jacked-up in places to keep them from falling in, and the Continued on Page Two

RESERVE OFFICERS SCHOOL

Government Desires Rush County Officers at Camp Knox

An appeal is being made by the government for all reserve army officers in Rush county to attend the Officer's Training Camp at Camp Knox July 8 to 22, according to a message received today by Guy Newman, a first lieutenant, who has been ordered to the camp during that period.

The message states that the war department is anxious to have all of the reserve officers make application for the special course that is to be offered, and it is understood that there are several reserve officers in Rush county. Any officer in the grade of Captain or Lieutenant of infantry field artillery or engineers, are eligible to attend.

SMITH BOOM IS RENEWED TODAY

Latest Arrivals At French Lick Declare That New York's Governor Has Bright Hopes

INCREASING AMONG STATES

They Assert That Many States Want A Modification Of Prohibition Laws—Smith Is Silent

French Lick, Ind., June 19.—The "Al Smith for president" boom took on new life here today despite the governor's supreme indifference to all things political.

Observers arriving from the east declared that Smith's strength is on the increase among the states which want a modification of the national prohibition enforcement laws, the latest arrivals at French Lick declare.

There is every indication, that the wet states of the eastern seaboard will seek to make prohibition one of the "paramount issues" of the coming campaign, in spite of the fact that Tom Taggart and other mid-western leaders declare prohibition will not occupy the center of the stage and that an avowed wet candidate has no chance of winning the democratic, presidential nomination.

The eastern states, it is declared, will look to Smith for leadership, regardless of what mid-western and southern dry elements in the party Continued on Page Five

NO POLITICS IN HIS DEPARTMENT

Secretary Hoover of the Department of Commerce, Answers Charges Made Against Him

LUMBER INDUSTRY BLAMED

They Charge That He Used Politics That Interfered With The Work of His Department

Chicago, June 19.—Politics plays no part in the activities of the commerce department, Secretary Hoover declared in a statement made public today, answering charges brought by members of the National Hardwood Lumber Association.

Charges that politics had interfered with the work of the department in its relations with the lumber industry were branded "an injustice of which American business should be fully ashamed," by Secretary Hoover.

In reading the charges to the association, John W. McClure, president of the lumber men declared W. A. Durgon, chief of the Simplified practice division of the department of commerce, had implored him and other lumber men to make "a show of harmony" because there was discussion in the cabinet, due to Hoover "Up to date no one has suggested either Republican or Democratic grades of lumber," the secretary stated. ## SUES ON BREACH OF CONTRACT

Fanny Ayres Alleges T. S. Cauley Failed To Complete Basement

Fanny H. Ayres today filed suit in the circuit court against Thomas C. Cauley, the complaint being for breach of contract, fraud, damages and for attachment, with the demand for $150.

According to the complaint, the defendant was hired to place a basement under her residence at 322 East Eighth Street for $250, and she alleges that he failed to comply with the agreement, furnished faulty material and did not complete the work. She says she was away from home at the time, and took his word that the work was completed. She asks an attachment, as she alleges that he is preparing to leave the state, and she demands $150 judgment for failure to fulfill his contract.

INSPECT COMPANY TONIGHT

Rushville Guardsmen Urged to be on Hand at Armory

All members of Company C, Rushville's National Guard unit, are urged to attend the regular weekly drill tonight at the armory, as Captain W. B. Brann this morning received word that there would be an inspecting officer here tonight.

The officer here stated that it was important for all guardsmen to be on hand, and undergo the inspection which will be made.

The local company is preparing for their summer training camp, at Camp Knox, and they have received orders to leave here July 15 for the two weeks service. Last year they were pressed into active service in the coal fields, during the strike, but this year there is no trouble, and the outing will be for two weeks.

MT. ETNA CAUSES BIG DISTURBANCE

Thousands Are Rendered Homeless And Many Towns Destroyed By Flow Of Molten Lava

EARTH TREMBLES ALSO

New Lava Stream Advanced Toward Giarre, City Of 20,000 People, Which Appears Doomed

Catania, Sicily, June 19.—From the path of five, fiery, obliterating avalanches of lava, thousands of Sicilian farmers are fleeing with their families, animals and household goods today while the violent eruptions of Mount Etna that have rendered nearly 100,000 persons homeless, continue.

Catania, June 19.—Between fifty and one hundred thousand persons are homeless as a result of the terrible eruption of Mount Etna Sunday and Monday.

Flow of molten lava from new fissures opened in the volcano's side continues and earth tremors are adding their terrors to those that drove the population of towns at Etna's base into frantic flight.

Six little townships, nestled at the foot of the mountain, have been wiped out by fiery streams of lava, thirty and forty feet in height, that poured relentlessly down upon them.

A new lava stream advanced today toward the town of Giarre, of 20,000 inhabitants, which is doomed unless some event impossible to foresee intervenes.

COUNCIL REJECTS ANTI-MASK BILL

Indianapolis Aldermen Vote 6 To 2 On Proposed Ordinance Preventing Masked Parades

STORMY SESSION WAS HELD

Affair At Rushville Cited By One Of The Proponents, Unfavorable To The Ku Klux Klan

Indianapolis, Ind., June 19.—The Indianapolis city council last night voted down an anti-mask ordinance which proposed a fine not exceeding $500 and imprisonment for not more than 30 days for persons wearing masks at any time other than Halloween.

The vote was taken at the end of one of the stormiest sessions the city council has seen in years. The vote was 6 against the measure and 2 for it.

A public hearing and postponement of the vote was denied after proponents of the measure had demanded immediate action.

The ordinance was presented to the council several weeks ago, but remained in committee until last night.

Hundreds of supporters of the anti-mask ordinance jammed the council chambers and overflowed into the corridors. As the vote was taken, jeers and hisses greeted each successive vote against the measure. Policemen and detectives were stationed about the chamber to preserve order, but they did not succeed in preventing a demonstration against the council's action.

The proposed ordinance was directed against activities of the Ku Klux Klan.

As councilmen registered opposition to the ordinance on roll call, the crowd which overflowed the Council chamber into the corridors, began to jeer and hiss.

When Mr. Ray's name was called, he leaped to his feet.

"Any member of the Council who votes against this ordinance," he shouted, "will find before the year is out that he has made the most serious mistake any councilman ever made."

He spoke of a recent parade of masked men held in Rushville, during which two men were stabbed.

"I think it is a serious political Continued on Page Six

ROTARY CONVENTION IN OPENING SESSION

Seven Thousand Gather And Wonderful Spectacle Is Carried Out In Coliseum Today

MISS COLUMBIA PORTRAYED

St. Louis, Mo., June 19.—Amid a riot of color 7,000 visiting Rotarians, singing the "Star Spangled Spangled Banner" formally opened the 14th annual convention of the Rotary international at the Coliseum here last night.

In an address of welcome, Herman Spoelreh, president of the Rotary Club of St. Louis told the visiting Rotarians that the people of St. Louis were glad to see them "all back in this city of homes."

The principal address was made of the American Banker's Association by Walter W. Head, vice president of Omaha, Neb., who spoke on "patriotism."

Shortly before 8:30 o'clock, after all the seats on the ground floor of the edifice had been occupied the audience sat in semi-circle facing a dais covered with green foliage and floral festoonings upon which, presently a spot light revealed the figure of Miss Columbia standing by an American flag. Twenty-nine boy Scouts, each bearing the flag of every nation represented at the convention, marched up to the dais from the audience after a short drill grounded the standards on the steps leading to the platform upon which Miss Columbia stood.

The American flag was unfurled amid a blare of trumpets and the 7000 Rotarians stood and sang "The Star Spangled Banner," "God Save the King." The British national song was next sung, with the Canadian delegation carrying the burden of the refrain.

WEATHER SERVICE
IS BEST IN WORLD

Observations And Forecasts Made For All Important Bodies Of Water Touching U. S. Shores

APPLIES TO EVERY NEED

Charts Records From Western Europe To Eastern Asia And From Philippines To Alaska

Washington, June 19.—(Special communication)—The Weather Bureau Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture covers the largest area of land and sea and does the most practically useful work of any similar service in the world. Its observations and forecasts are made not only for continental United States, including Alaska, but for all important bodies of water touching American shores or immediately affecting American waters. The Atlantic Ocean, the Gulf of Mexico, the Caribbean Sea, the Pacific Ocean, the waters of Alaska and the Great Lakes are all under constant observation by shore observers and ships which report weather phenomena by wireless. These ships also receive warnings of storms, hurricanes or other dangerous conditions. In addition the Weather Bureau collects, exchanges and redistributes by wireless all possible information on world weather conditions indicated by reports from far distant parts of the globe.

Most other countries also maintain meteorological services. Great Britain regards climatology and meteorology from the angle of maritime rather than agricultural interests. France gives a great deal of attention to investigations of value to flyers. Norway is doing very fine work in polar research. But meteorology in America is applied to everyday needs of every person in every walk of life, particularly to those engaged in agriculture. In no other country can the farmer depend completely on a weather bureau like ours for frost warnings, least he plant too soon, for rain and storm warnings to proteel his crops or livestock; for having vast forecasts, telling him when to expect fair days for getting in his crop. He knows that shippers' forecasts will enable transportation agencies to save his perishables, whether fruit, vegetables or live stock, in transit.

Livestock men in the Great Plains or Rocky Mountain States, orchardists in New Mexico, owners of cranberry bogs in Cape Cod, have all learned the value of cold wave warnings issued by the Weather Bureau. Ships scurry for shelter before hurricane warnings from the Gulf of Mexico. A ship that disregards the Weather Bureau's storm signal on the Great Lakes can collect no insurance if damaged. Receiving immediate word of the coming of heavy snow or even extremely cold weather, gives railroads a chance to have extra workmen ready and to take other steps to keep the tracks clear. More engines are used or smaller loads sent out. River and flood warnings down the Mississippi and other great river valleys habitually flooding in the spring enable engineers to strengthen protection for vast acreages of valuable crops. Gum-Dipped Cords Continue to Set the Pace

Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords have not only won acknowledged leadership but are increasing it steadily. Here are a few points about the outstanding success of these tires that explain why Firestone dealers have the biggest values on the market in Gum-Dipped Cords.

1 LOWER PRICES
Firestone has successfully championed the cause of lower tire costs against the Crude Rubber Monopoly and was first to give car owners the benefit in a 10% price reduction on June 11th.

2 194% Sales Increase
Firestone has utilized big volume production to lower manufacturing costs and give extra value. And the public is responding by buying three Gum-Dipped Cords to one a year ago.

3 Winners at Indianapolis
Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords gave striking proof of superiority in the 500-Mile Sweepstakes when they took the first four places and eight out of ten money positions on May 30th, without a single tire failure.

4 The New Mileage Standard
Firestone Cords are proving on the cars of hundreds of thousands of motorists and on taxicab fleets that gum-dipping and other Firestone processes raise the standard of mileage to a new high level.

5 108 Distributing Points
Firestone has developed a finer, more economical distributing organization, replacing many county branches with warehouses. There are now 108 points from which Firestone Tires are delivered to the thousands of Firestone dealers.

6 Best for Hot Weather Driving
Gum-Dipped Cords are showing that they stand up better under the harder wear of summer driving. The gum-dipping process overcomes the deteriorating effect of heat and friction and adds thousands of extra miles of service.

roofs have been patched many times to stop leaks.

Aside from the poor condition of the wooden buildings the institution is in good physical condition, and the three industries in operation forecast a record year for the farm as a profit-maker. The new willow industry, developed by the present board, is behind with orders, and needs more room for expansion. The demand for brick can not be filled for output is being used in the construction of the new state reformatory at Pendleton. The stone quarry also is producing a larger output than in the past, largely due to orders for road building material. Crop prospects for the farm proper are fair, but the land is of poor quality.

Plans for the new dormitories propose that the buildings last for years. No change will be made in the general type of construction, and the program of the trustees calls for building operations to get under way

Twenty Four Counties Had Total of 64 Operations in Gas and Oil During Past Month

GEOLOGIST IN A REPORT

Some Oil Wells Yield Good in Various Parts and 150 Operators Are on The List

Indianapolis, Ind., June 19.—There were a total of sixty-four operations in the gas and oil fields of Indiana in twenty-four counties in the past month, according to a monthly survey of such activities by the division of geology of the state conservation department prepared by Theodore Kingsbury under direction of Richard Lieber conservation director for Indiana.

The survey bulletin is sent to 150 oil and gas operators in the state, and is a part of the division's service in promoting these activities in this commonwealth.

The bulletin sets forth that the West Princeton field, Gibson county has 100 oil wells some of which have been pumped for 19 years. The East Princeton field, opened August 1921, has six producing wells. The Oatsville field, Pike County, opened in 1915, has approximately 150 wells, while the Ridgeville field, South Jay county, opened last year, has more than 50 wells.

According to Mr. Lieber, Indiana during April produced 88,000 barrels of oil; 69,000 barrels in the southwestern fields and 19,000 barrels in the northwestern fields. During March 83,000 barrels were produced in this state.

abandoned well on the Joseph Belcher farm, south of Monroe City, has revived interest in the Monroe City field, the report says. It is near a well from which 10 barrels of oil are pumped daily.

The best gas well reported recently came in in Shelby county when the DePrez interests drilling in the Teal property struck a 312 pound pressure. How valuable it will be, however, must be later determined for the well flooded with salt water after the shot.

In Wells county, the bulletin says, an oil well drilled by William Mason and others near the Adams county line west of Linn Grove, made 100 barrels the first twenty hours. Mr. Mason is associated in a company holding 1,000 acres under lease in this field which was worked twenty years ago but abandoned at that time because oil was cheap. The company plans extensive development of its property.

Summarizing operations in Indiana the report shows that in April this year 15 wells were completed having a total production of 359 barrels of oil each day. Thirty wells were being drilled at the time.

Hyphenated Histories

Are our American histories pro-American, or are they pro-British? This question is being vociferously agitated in some sections of the country at the present time.

During the war somebody discovered that our histories were pro-German, and immediately a roar went up demanding that they be de-germanized. It made good copy for the newspapers.

Now Mr. Hearst and his papers have discovered that our histories are pro-British, and the howl this time is at the expense of England.

If our histories were pro-German during the war, and if they are pro-British now, why is it so, and who is getting the "swag", and why is it not possible to find some one in this country who has a sufficient amount of brains and patriotism to write a history that is pro-American? Either our historians are un-American for writing them, and our school authorities and teachers are un-American for using them, or somebody is talking through a big hole in his hat.

Radio in The Future

Already radio reaches ships in any part of the ocean the isolated farm can listen to music and lectures in the cities. Medical advice has been sent by radio where it was impossible to reach a patient by other means. Information is broadcasted to the farmer on crop and weather conditions. Fire warnings have been sent out and the way of the crook will be made harder through ability to broadcast a record of his activities to every community in the land.

The future possibilities of radio are irrefragable. Various principles which will make it more applicable to business and social life are just being worked out. The supreme inventive genius of the country, the greatest organizing ability and the most powerful resources are now at the service of the new art, with the result that radio has made greater strides in the past two years than in the ten years previous.

No other nation has such a combination of air communication resources for the benefit of its people.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily Republican
Saturday, June 20, 1908

The first move to be made by the Anti-Saloon League in Rushville will be a concerted one, when one week from Sunday three or four of their best orators will come to preach the doctrines of temperance and the virtues of a dry city.

Carrie Nation spoke at Connersville this week. She made such a hit that they asked her to stay several days. Thursday she came through Rushville on the C. H. & D. but no one was there to meet her as she did not encounter any brewery signs or good looking fellows there was no snatching or mashing.

Joe Bowles, the Sexton Demos-thenes, opened the political campaign here with a flowery effort extolling William H. Taft. It was the first Taft speech of the campaign.

W. S. Coleman, Miss Henrietta Coleman, Will M. Frazee, John D. Mege, Douglas Morris, J. W. Tompkins and Phil Wilk spent the day in Shelbyville attending the damage suit of Prendergast against the L. & C. Traction Company.

The commencement exercises at the Catholic hall last night were largely attended and all were treated to an excellent program. Rev. Walter J. Cronin, presented the graduates with their diplomas. Those who were graduated this year were: Gertrude K. Laughlin, Mary E. Carroll, Theresa E. Reardon and Marie M. O'Riley.

J. H. Scholl and family went to Lyons station today to visit over Sunday at the old home place of Mr. Scholl.

Walter Bridenstein, son-in-law of Dan Spivey, who is employed at Worth & Bowen's, is laid up with a peculiar affliction. A huge spider bit him on the arm and caused his arm to swell twice its normal size. Cedar Springs, the health resort just east of Richmond which was formerly conducted by John Freeman, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel here will not be opened this summer.

If the weather is favorable, tomorrow evening the church services at the Christian church will be held on the front lawn. Rev. R. W. Aberly, the pastor will preach and the choir will render a special program. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McMillin of Union Township will spend Sunday with Walter E. Grog and family at Greenfield.

Train Shed Fire Endangers Many

Quick work on the part of railway employees saved the lives of nearly 200 passengers in sleeping cars when fire broke out in Philadelphia's Broad Street Station train shed at one o'clock in the morning. After a long fight the fire was subdued, but not until the lofty arched, glass-covered shed was in ruins and $2,000,000 damage had been done.

How To Get Ahead

Washington, June 19—Here's a story for boys who think all the chances of reaching the top through "internally sticking to it" has gone.

Willis J. Fowler came from Fort Wayne, Ind., in 1886, and entered the service of the government at $900 a year. He was one of an army of $900 clerks. A good many of these who worked alongside Fowler those days are dead; a very few of them are still in the government service, and of those few, some are still in relatively minor positions.

The other day Fowler was appointed first deputy controller of the currency, at considerably more than $900. His recipe for "getting there" is short and pointed: "Get to know your business, and then work at it."

OTHER CRIMES SUSPECTED

Newark, N. J., June 19—Facing charges which represent her as a modern Lucretia Borgia, Mrs. Mary E. Creighton went on trial here today for the alleged murder of her brother by slow poison.

A pale, nervously smiling woman, Mrs. Creighton looked anything but the cold blooded murderess which the state claims her to be.

She is accused of having fed arsenic to Charles Raymond Avery, 19, killing him, by inches, to obtain his life insurance.

Her husband, John, a mild mannered man with a dazed air, is charged with the same offense. The prosecution proposes to show that he came under the influence of his wife and was forced to participate in the alleged poison plot.

In addition to young Avery, Mrs. Creighton is suspected of having poisoned her mother-in-law, Mrs. Walter J. Creighton. She is under indictment for this. The elder Mrs. Creighton's body was exhumed and traces of poison found in it, according to the state's experts.

As Mrs. Creighton was summoned to court, nurses at the house on detention were caring for her month old baby, born since her arrest. Friends are looking after her other child, a daughter.

Minor Revolts In Various Parts Of The Balkans Also Loom, Inspired
By Troop Attack

London, June 19—Troops of the Zankof government of Bulgaria are resorting to severe measures to put down a peasant counter revolt, even going to the extent of burning whole villages in the southwest, according to the Daily Chronicle today.

Jugo-Slavia, alarmed, is calling reservists to the colors, dispatching troops to the Macedonian border, the Chronicle's Belgrade correspondent reports.

These dispatches indicated that the reported former demise of former Premier Stamboulisky, the peasant leader, has by no means ended the counter-revolution movement. In fact, fresh reports persist that Stamboulisky is not dead at all, as announced by his enemies, but has hidden up again at the head of a random peasant force.

A report from Sofia by way of Athens says that Bulgaria agrarians and communists seized huge ammunition stores at Ortakoi Sunday.

There are indications of numerous other minor revolts in various parts of the Balkans, inspired perhaps by the Bulgarian coup d'etat according to London newspapers.

A strong Jugo-Slavia force is reported to have been dispatched to Montenegro to put down a Mirdite revolt which demanded restoration of Turkish authority.

New Service Fitted to New Possibilities

WE move swiftly in America — change is the order of the day — industrial economics are changing — labor relationships are changing. The size of the oil business is changing and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) keeping step with progress, is changing its methods of doing business, to meet the new conditions as they arise.

We invent, and improve, and learn, and go ahead.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) developed the Burton Process to increase the recovery of gasoline to meet the demand caused by the increasing number of automotive machines. It improved merchandising methods until its distribution and marketing systems are the standard of efficiency for the industry.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) developed new methods of handling its business. Many of these are applied to administration inside the organization, as for instance, the Industrial Relations Plan, the Annuity Plan, and the Stock Purchasing Plan, all of which have resulted in bringing the Company and its employees closer together.

Other methods have expanded the Company's activities in new directions, — as for instance, in the development of a chain of service stations located at convenient points throughout the ten Middle Western states where the motorist may secure his requirements of fuel and oil in such quantities as he may need.

This is but one of the many improvements which the Company has adopted to better the service which it is rendering the people of the Middle West.

All these methods tend to hold down prices. This is recognized in a recent article in Petroleum Age which says, "No other product or power of like value, obtained at such expense and under such hazardous conditions, is furnished the people at such reasonable prices at all points of the country, as oil and its products."

In the petroleum industry the real problem of the hour is service. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is continually fitting new service to new possibilities and adapting its established service to meet new conditions. This policy makes for prosperous business, without which no nation can hope for general prosperity.

As the demand for petroleum products increases, it will be found that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has put itself, by progressive development of new possibilities, in a position to give a service commensurate with the increasing demand.

TRACY IN CHARGE OF FIGHT OFFICE

Dan Tracy, Great Falls, Assumed Control at Shelby After Putting up Money on Big Fight

TO PUSH TICKET SALE.

Officials Will Exert Their Utmost to Take in $100,000 to Finish Purse
For the Scrap

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright, 1923, by United Press) Shelby, Mont., June 19—Without any ruffling of feathers or other surface frictions the new "management" of the Dempsey-Gibbons heavyweight championship match assumed control of the promoters' offices here today.

Dan Tracy, hotel man of Great Falls, selected to run things by the business men of that town who advanced $25,000 to help meet the second installment on Jack Dempsey's $300,000 purse, arrived this morning and started what he called "some lookin' around."

With Tracy was Frank Fogarty, expert accountant, who is to act as assistant manager of the new regime.

Tracy said he had planned no new outline of procedure and intimated he did not intend to do any "cleaning out" of the present organization. Fogarty said his purpose was to get busy and push the sale of tickets so that the final $100,000 installment due Dempsey may be ready for him July 2.

Both Tracy and Fogarty laid stress on the fact that nothing now could stop the fight.

Mike Collins, match maker, said his only desire now is to "get cleared of any charges of mis-management of the Shelby office, which was said to be responsible for last week's crisis."

"I have had charge of nothing but the making of the match," Collins insisted. "And I want the auditors to go over the books and tell the public what they find."

All members of the staff want the books audited, he added. They want it shown that all money received from the sale of tickets has been properly handled.

Giants, Yanks Appear Winners

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

Unless a couple of jinxes settle down upon them, the Giants and the Yanks should be in a position to figure how much money they are going to make out of the 1923 world's series before September is very long on the way.

Both the champion clubs got away good and piled up leads that would make them favorites for their third straight pennants, even if there were some strong opponents in the field against them.

In the National League it is almost a cinch now that the Giants will win the pennant. John McGraw has a tremendously powerful ball club and the opposition that the west was expected to present did not live up to predictions.

The Pirates, from early season form, looked like the only rivals that the Giants had for the pennant and they apparently are missing something some place.

The Reds were a disappointment and the Cars, without Hornsby, will get no place in the pennant race. The Brooklyn Robins pulled a sensational comeback after a terrible start, but they do not look like a contending club.

While the Yanks haven't a team to compare with the Giants, they are running away with the American League pennant race.

All of the western clubs failed badly to live up to expectations.

The White Sox were the biggest disappointment of the year.

The Cleveland Indians fell down, and the loss of George Sisler ruined the Browns.

Ty Cobb has been troubled with an infield full of holes and his pitchers did not deliver as he expected them to.

Connie Mack's Athletics were the big surprise of the early season.
They have a good young ball club that is going some place in a couple of years, but they are not ready to upset the Yankees this year.

With very poor secondary defense, the Yanks would be in a bad way if any of the infielders ran into some bad luck.

Mike McNally and Ernie Johnson are the only players Miller Huggins has to fall back on. McNally is a good ball player, but he is not strong enough to go through a hard season.
Johnson may be a good ball player, but every club in the league, with the exception of the Yanks, waived on him when the White Sox put him on the block.

Gazella, a football and baseball star from Lehigh, has been signed by the Yanks, and he might step into stardom, but "Frishes" don't happen every day.

While major league club owners are willing to pay fortunes for untried ball players, it seems strange that Fred Merkle is still playing with the Rochester Internationals.

Merkle is battling over 400, and he recently batted safely in thirty-two consecutive games. He is a veteran player and a smart player, despite that "boner" thing.

The St. Louis Browns are desperately in need of a first baseman to take George Sisler's place, and the Cleveland Indians have not recovered from the mistakes they made in letting Stuffy McInnis go.

Merkle would look good on either one of those clubs.

It may be, however, that Merkle is satisfied with his present position and that he does not desire to go up to the big leagues again. It is understood that this is the case.

Rochester is up in the pennant race and has a good chance for the honors and Merkle is the 'biggest part of the team.

It seems that Rochester wants Merkle and Merkle likes Rochester.
It has been "up" before, and he knows that there is little in it.

NEW FLYWEIGHT CHAMPION

Pancho Villa Wins Title in Scrap at Polo Grounds Last Night

By PAUL R. MALLON
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 19—Four years ago Pancho Villa, 17 years old, came out of the Philippine cane brakes to make his fortune. At that time Jimmy Wilde, British wizard was "sitting on the top of the world."

Today Villa is flyweight champion of the world and the career of the famous Welshman is done.

Working like an animated battering ram, Villa pounded, jabbed, hooked and cut the veteran until his pipe-stem-like legs dropped from beneath him and he sank to the canvas in the seventh round at the Polo Grounds last night, completely knocked out.

MT. ETNA CAUSES BIG DISTURBANCE

large area of eastern Sicily continued incessantly this morning.
Refugees were thrown further into panic by these demonstrations. Fifty thousand at least are housed here or huddle helplessly in streets and fields, while it is estimated close to an equal number have fled elsewhere.

Already ten little townships have severed into oblivion beneath the devastating flow of molten lava which gains in speed as fresh explosions and earth tremors shake the volcano's base.

Over their shoulders as they flee,
the farmers see the advancing lava walls, thousands of feet wide, thirty to forty feet high, carrying along great incandescent rocks weighing tons. A blistering heat precedes the onrushing lava; human life is impossible within a mile. Wells for miles around have dried up; vegetation is withering.

Still further up the mountain, like a shroud over the destruction wrought by the fiery streams, a steady downfall of ashes, hot cinderers, stones and lava fragments are spreading a gaseous blanket already three inches thick over the entire mountain as far as Giardini.

As the panicky exodus from threatened towns grows in volume, roads are clogged and the farmers drive their cattle, horses and beasts of burden, upon whose backs is everything they could remove from before the lava, across fields and down drying river beds in their haste.

Inhabitants of towns that have not yet felt the heat of the descending masses, but whence the unintermitted incandescent display of giant fireworks from Etna's top is plainly visible, spent a night of terror.

Governor Smith is maintaining strict silence in spite of all the political gossip that has been aroun-ed by his visit to the resort of the Indiana political boss, and he seems little concerned about all the political dope that is being stirred up.

He has avoided even the most trivial subjects which might be interpreted by political writers as an indication of his reaction to the ad-crats of this section of the country gave to the boom that was started for him by Chicago wets immediately after his arrival in that city.

TRIO IS NAMED IN MINNESOTA PRIMARY

Three Parties Name Their Choice For Senator To Succeed The Late Knute Nelson
ELECTION ON JULY 16

St. Paul, Minn., June 19.—Governor J. A. O. Prens, Republican; Magnus Johnson, farm-labor, and James A. Carley, Democrat are the party nominees in Minnesota's special senatorial primary, it appeared certain from returns today.

The trio is to go before the voters July 16 in a special election to determine the successor to the late Senator Knute Nelson.

Prens' nomination is a victory for the Harding administration. The president endorsed him against a field of Republican candidates of various views.

Supporters of Judge Oscar Hallam conceded the nomination to Governor Prens early today. Hallam is the "runner up" in the Republican fight.

With about one third of the total vote counted, indications were that Prens will get the Republican nomination by about 30,000. Johnson, with a much lighter vote in the farmer-labor party, is expected to win over L. A. Fritzsche a "wet", by about 18,000. Observers were surprised that Fritzsche ran so close, however, considering the traditional "aridness" of Minnesota.

State Senator James A. Carley won the Democratic nomination.

MOTHER'S FAITH MAY PRODUCE SECOND CARUSO FROM A CLERK

New York, June 16—Found: A successor to Caruso!

So thinks the crowded East Side of New York. There the real critics of grand opera live, and they're sure a boy who used to be a clerk in Mayor Hylan's office—and even was a boxer, too—is destined to wear the dead Caruso's crown.

A mother's persistence and the money contributions of neighbors are behind young Angelo Raggini in his ambition some day to be the star of the Metropolitan opera.

Neighbors have raised a fund to send Raggini to Italy to study. He leaves for Rome next fall. A year later he hopes to make his debut in Milan.

"I never wanted to be a clerk, but I wanted to sing," says Raggini. "I kept plugging along dreaming of wonderful rewards on the stage, little thinking that my first reward would come from neighbors. I've got to make good to pay them back for believing in me."

Raggini is 27. Since boyhood he has sung at neighborhood concerts and charitable functions. He sang his way into the heart of the East Side.

"You must have a singing name," advised his mother, Mrs. Carmela Janorelli. "Our name is too hard for people to speak, and it won't look so good on the great Metropolitan program. So you pick out a nice name that sounds musical."

So Angelo Janorelli, the office clerk, became Angelo Raggini, the singer.

Mrs. Janorelli has nine children. Her husband died a year ago, and her work increased. But she was never too tired to help Angelo, for she herself once had a beautiful voice and she still has a passionate love for music.

"Our friends wanted me to go to Italy once before," said Angelo, "but there was too much work to do at home. It hasn't been easy. Sometimes a gift handicaps a fellow's earning power. When your head is full of arias, a column of figures doesn't look inviting. I worked at the figures because I had to—but I was always thinking of art."

"My son!" says Mrs. Janorelli, proudly. "Some day I shall hear him sing Paggiacci in the great Metropolitan. Since he was three years old he has been singing just to make folks happy. His triumph will be mine."

WIDOW IDENTIFIES HUSBAND'S SLAYER

"Smiling, Blue Eyed Girl Bandit", Prove to be Abnormal—Killed Richard C. Tesmer

"GIRL" DRESSED AS WOMAN

Chicago, June 19—Mrs. Francis Thompson, alias Fred G. Thompson, has been identified today as the "smiling, blue eyed girl bandit" who killed Richard C. Tesmer at his "Gold Coast" home, Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes announced today.

Police said the prisoner was abnormal and posed sometimes as a man and sometimes as a woman.

Mrs. Tesmer, the widow, made the identification at the Tesmer home, Hughes said. The alleged "girl bandit" also was known as Francis Carrick, police asserted.

The "girl", dressed in feminine attire was arrested in a raid on a North Side apartment early today by a police squad led by Sergeant Wm. Susack. A man giving his name as John Doe and a woman who called herself Marie Clark were also found in the apartment.

When arrested the "girl" wore a pretty black beaded dress, satin pumps and black silk stockings.

MRS. G. W. HALL SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio. "Indeed, your medicine is all you say it is! I had very severe troubles such as women often have, and could do no heavy work. I was sick for several years, and from reading your ads. I finally decided to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now doing my own washing, which I haven't done for several years, and can walk long distances without those dragging pains and weak feelings. The Vegetable Compound is fine, and I never forget to say a good word for it to other women when they say they need something." Mrs. G. W. HALL, 639 Hazel Avenue, Lima, Ohio.

There are many women who find their household duties almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Hall's experience is but one of many.

100 WAYS To Make Money

By BILLY WINNER

If I Were a Banker—

I WOULD advertise my safety deposit boxes through Daily Republican Want Ads. Many people have valuables lying around the house through sheer carelessness. Perhaps they have heirlooms which would be impossible to replace if they were lost through fire and theft.

I would call to their attention how little it costs to rent a safety deposit box, compared to the absolute surety they would have that things they valued most were in safekeeping.

The reason I'd use Daily Republican Want Ads is because I'd be a progressive banker and would therefore, want to line up with a progressive paper. A paper which is interested enough in its Want Ads to spend so much effort in building up a really comprehensive Classified Section is bound to attract the attention of the people I'd want to read my ad—the substantial people of the community who would make good customers for my bank.

INDIAN BRIDE WINS IN HER LAW SUIT

"Boss" Crocker Advises Wife to Fight All Suits Designed to Deprive Her of His Estate

"REAL IRISH VICTORY"

Celebrate Court Triumph Over Richard Crocker, Jr., and Other Children of First Wife

By GEORGE MACDONAGH (U. P. Staff Correspondent) (Copyright, 1923, by United Press)

Dublin, June 19.—"Bula, don't give up the ship."

Such were the last words of "Boss" Richard Crocker, his Indian bride, who won a complete victory in the courts here when the late Tammany politician's children were denied their suit to break Crocker's will, declared in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

The "Boss" Bula said, was encouraging her to fight all law suits designed to deprive her of his entire estate, which his last will left to her.

Mrs. Crocker was tremendously pleased by her court victory.

"It was a real Irish victory," the former American Indian girl declared.

She pointed out that an Irish flag was flying over Glencairn, the home Crocker left her, in celebration of the court triumph over Richard Crocker, Jr., and other children of the "boss" by his first wife, who tried repeatedly and unsuccessfully to discredit Bula and break the will.

"I feel I have been fully vindicated," Bula said. "The courts of Ireland have done me justice." "I would like to add that my one regret the board and in courts at various times in two years.

The railroad ignored an order of the board to hold an election among its shopmen so that the men might select representatives to act in wage and other disputes. The board cited the road for contempt. The Pennsylvania took an injunction case to restrain the board from administering the rebuke to the United States Supreme Court, which held in favor of the board.

Recently Samuel Rea, president of the road, was peremptorily hailed before the board of Ben W. Hooper, chairman in a similar controversy involving the clerk's brotherhood.

The brotherhood charged that the railroad was arbitrarily forcing employees to negotiate through company unions when they wished the unions to represent them. Rea again defied the board and declared the men voted to negotiate through the company unions.

He challenged the right of the board to interfere.

Today's rebuke characterized the road's course as "indefensible from every viewpoint."

"While the carrier was refusing to deal with the organization of the shopmen and that of the clerks as such, it negotiated agreement with the train and engine brotherhoods, which they signed officially as the representatives of those organizations," the board's rebuke said.

"If the same right had been accorded to the shopmen, this controversy never would have existed.

"The problem of efficient and uninterrupted railway transportation is of paramount importance to the people of the country. The peaceful adjustment of labor controversies greatly contributes to this end. No other railroad in the United States has taken a position similar to that adopted by the Pennsylvania in this case."

Twenty Tons of Sea Monster

The Peoples National Bank

AMUSE

Walter Hiers' new Paramount picture, "Sixty Cents an Hour," was the Princess Theatre last evening and will be repeated this evening. Jacqueline Logan, featured as leading woman, shared honors with the star.

On a salary of $7.50 a week, Jimmy Kirk (Walter Hiers) is a firm believer in M. Coue, and every day in every way he is getting richer and richer, but upon the reduction of his salary to six dollars he is at his wits' end. But a man with ambition is not to be downed. So Jimmy purchases a small strip of land next to the Zuzina National Bank. It is here that he expects to establish himself in business, but when the funds that the bank extends an illegal foot over his property, everything takes a turn for the better. "Move it off or buy me out," commands Jimmy of the bank president, who does buy him but at Kirk's price.

It is now that Jimmy has his inning, for he is not in the position to ask Miss Mamie Smith (Jacqueline Logan), daughter of the bank president, to marry him. His proposal and acceptance come after many amusing incidents and genuine thrills have taken place. The plot is interesting, the action fast moving and the acting of the star and Miss Logan is wholly satisfying. Others in a thoroughly capable supporting cast are Ricardo Cortez, Charles Ogle, Lucille Ward, Robert Dudley, Guy Oliver, Clarence Burton and Cullen Tate.

"The Rider of King Log"

"The Rider of the King Log," the Associated Exhibitors presentation of Holman Day's production of his own novel, shown yesterday for the first time at the Mystic Theatre and continuing today is a drama of adventure and romance so interwoven with the natural beauties of Maine and the great outdoors, that the very rivers seem to be playing the part of great silent friends.

The story is woven about the picturesque figure of old Kavanagh, "rider of the king log." Next to his great love for his motherless daughter, is his love for the timberlands. His river rights are usurped by a wood pulp corporation, and it is a fight with victory for the best man. But Death claims him in the midst of his courageous stand. However, the spirit of the Kavanagh lives on his daughter, Clare, who is given considerable aid by Daa Cupid.

Many spectacular thrills are provided by the blowing up of a dam and the resultant mad rushing of the log jam down the river. Every season of the year in the North woods is shown, and every phase of lumbering, yet never once does the picture forget itself in the beauty of its surroundings or let up in the tenseness of its drama.

Splendid acting is done by Frank Sheridan, who as the Kavanagh steps out of the pages of the book. Richard Travers is a manly hero and Irene Boyle sincere and charming as Clare. The remainder of the cast is equally satisfactory.

Holman Day is indeed to be congratulated, on being able to give entertainment through the medium of the printed page and the motion picture.

CORN GROWERS TO LAUNCH A DRIVE

Rush County Association Will Seek New Members, Following Decision at Recent Meeting

ADVANTAGES ARE OUTLINED

When Organization Secures 50 Members, it Will be Qualified for $200 Appropriation

Plans for an organized drive for additional members for the Rush County Corn Growers Association were laid at a meeting of the officers and directors of the organization last Thursday afternoon. The campaign for members will commence at once and will be completed by July 7 when the committees will meet to report results of the campaign and to turn in their memberships.

As Rush county is one of the leading corn counties of the state, every farmer in the county should be interested in the corn growers organization, which was organized at the time of the last county corn show for the purposes of encouraging the improvement of corn growing in Rush county, promote the use of and development of better types seed corn through variety tests, corn shows and other means.

This organization will be the co-operating agency in charge of all corn improvement work in the county and will have charge of the management of the corn shows. It is also pointed out that when the local organization secures 50 members, it will have qualified to receive an appropriation of $200.00 which can be used to strengthen the premium list of the show. It is also required that

BEETLES DAMAGE CUCUMBER VINES

Striped Beetle is Most Destructive Pest of Cucumbers and Melons in The State

SOME METHODS OF CONTROL

Calcium Arsenate and Mixture of Gypsum and Not Lead Arsenate Should be Used

The striped cucumber beetle is one of the commonest and probably the most generally destructive pest of cucumbers and melons in Indiana, damaging large and small plantings alike. The striped cucumber beetle is destructive as a larva as well as during the beetle stage. The beetles attack the plants as soon as they appear devouring the tender stems and leaflets and later gnaw the older stems and fruits. They deposit eggs in the soil near the roots and the larvae hatching from these eggs injure the plants by tunnelling the roots and underground parts of the stem. These larvae mature late in the season and the adult beetles pass the winter in dense woody growths, mainly along river bottoms and similar locations where dense wild growths are to be found. The beetles not only injure the plants by feeding but in addition they are the chief carriers of the wilt disease.

An effective control will be found in a mixture of one part of calcium arsenate (dusting powder form) to twenty parts of gypsum or land plaster. DO NOT USE ARSENATE OF LEAD. The plants are first dusted when the first leaves appear and once a week thereafter for three or four weeks or more often if necessary.

ONLY ONE ANIMAL REACTS TO A TEST

Remainder Of 178 Head Of Cattle Examined Last Week Found Free Of Tuberculosis

25 HERDS IN TWO TOWNSHIPS

In Addition To Initial Tests, U. S. Expert Gives 3 Semi-Annual And 1 Annual Test

During the past week twenty-five herds of cattle in Richland and Noble townships were given the tuberculin tests for tuberculosis by Dr. V. D. Alexander of the U. S. department of agriculture, bureau of animal industry.

Of the 178 animals tested, only one was found that reacted to the test, which speaks well for Rush county, as in some counties as many as five per cent of all animals tested are reactors. Some herds in other counties contain as high as 75 per cent reactors.

Some may think that as Rush county is relatively free from T. B. that there is no need for the test, but therefore it is distinctly pointed out that under such a condition testing is worth while for the purpose of getting rid of the few reactors that do exist, so that the chances for further spread of the disease will be eliminated.

In addition to the initial tests that were made, Dr. Alexander administered semi-annual tests on three farms and one annual test. The semi-annual test is given on farms where reactors have been found in previous tests. These herds given the semi-annual tests pass clean for the second time in this tests and if they pass clean in the

CHILDREN BEST "CROP" ON FARMS

Bankers And Business Men Will Agree That The Farm Is Best Place To Bring Up Children

MANY LEAVE IT TOO SOON

One Banker Suggests That Contentment Should Be The Main Issue In Governing Boys And Girls

By WALTER W. HEAD
(First Vice-President, American Bankers Association)

Every banker and business man in the country is interested in the farm from another viewpoint than merely a place to raise farm products and livestock. Above all the farm is one of the places where we can best bring up our boys and girls. Thousands of men and boys each year are flocking to the city. Clerks in the city are barely eking out an existence and they cannot expect to receive much more in the way of compensation.

But back on the farms are men working for a reasonable return, and in addition they have their houses, the wonderful sunshine above in the daytime, the wonderful fresh air and all the things that the soil produces. The boy who is raised on the farm will have an entirely different aspect of life and approach the various problems with which he has to deal in later years in a different way from the boy who

FARMERS BUILD UP FARM BUREAU

Recent Reports Received by Organization Department Show Many Gains in Paid-up Memberships

LOOKING TOWARD FUTURE

Plain That Memberships are Being Secured Upon Basis of Results Obtained by State Bureaus

By E. P. TAYLOR
(Department of Relations, American Farm Bureau)

Farmers have been very busy with their spring work, but not too busy to spend time in building up their Farm Bureau membership. Recent reports received by the Organization Department of the American Farm Bureau Federation show that many of the states have made some very substantial gains in number of paid-up memberships. It is also plain that these memberships are being secured upon the basis of actual results attained by the state Farm Bureaus and upon definite programs of work planned for the future.

A large number of the states are making co-operative marketing an outstanding project and there is a

SILVER ATTACKS FIXING OF PRICES

Washington Representative In Letter To Capper Points Out Fallacies In Scheme

WILL NOT BE DESIRABLE

Arbitrary Governmental Price Fixing In Effect Would Make Producer A Gov't Ward

Arbitrary governmental price-fixing for farm products is neither desirable nor necessary. Co-operative marketing, intermediate credits, warehouse receipts, and crop insurance will enable the farmer to get a proper, stable price for what system of governmental price-fixing the minimum price would become the maximum price. The farmer would be out-traded by the other two-thirds of the population under any such scheme of governmental price guarantee. In effect the producer would become a ward of the government. The very democracy of the republic would be imperiled.

These dangers in the proposed price-fixing bills vigorously outlined by Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, in a remarkable letter addressed to Senator Arthur Capper, head of the Farm Bloc. Mr. Silver thanks the Farm Bloc for the highly constructive legislation passed by the late Congress to aid a prostrate agriculture, particularly in the intermediate credits and warehouse acts. By adding a system of crop insurance, which he urges the next Congress to provide, Mr. Silver declares that the farming industry

A sale in our ready-to-wear department means more than a sale in the average store, due to the fact that we never have a carried-over Coat or Suit in our store. Each garment is disposed of each season. We positively never carry over a Suit or Coat from one season to another.

TON-LITTER, SOY BEAN TOUR AUG. 21

Expected That Affair Will Attract Attention Of Farmers All Over The County

TO HAVE SPECIAL AWARD

Silver Cup To Be Awarded Annually To Contestant Producing Most Pork Per Sow A Day

Tuesday, August 21, is a date that Rush County farmers should keep in mind as it is the date of the big Ton-Litter and soy bean tour. It is expected that this affair will attract attention of farmers all over the county and will draw from some of the surrounding counties.

By the date of the meeting some of the ton-litter club members will have been successful in producing litters which weigh a ton at six months of age, and a number of the farms having ton litters will be visited in the morning.

In the afternoon the party will end the tour at the farm of S. R. Newhouse in Jackson township where a soy bean field meeting will be held. Besides hearing talks on soy beans the farmers will be able to see the crop growing with different methods of planting. A variety test, comparing the growth habits and adaptability of a number of different varieties, will be an interesting feature of the demonstration.

These two activities, the ton-litter and soy bean projects, are attracting a great amount of interest in the county. Rush county has a good chance this year to produce more ton litters than any other county in the state. A special feature has been added to the ton-litter contest in this county in the nature of a special award. The Rush County Mills, Ball & Orme Elevator and Hutchinson & Son elevator have agreed to put up a silver cup to be awarded annually to the contestant producing the most pork per sow per day. This is the only county which is making this special award and this feature will

STATE FLOUR DRIVE GIVEN ENDORSEMENT

Department Head Approves Of The Campaign Conducted By Purdue Experiment Station

PRAISES WHEAT TESTS

Endorsement of the Indiana flour campaign and others like it in other states was given by J. H. Shollenberger, in charge of milling investigations for the Department of Agriculture, who was at Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station recently. Going over the work is being done by the botany department in cleaning cookie and garlic from wheat, which is a big problem in many parts of the country, especially southwestern Indiana. Both of these weeds cause considerable trouble and loss when wheat infested with their seeds, is milled.

"From the housewife's standpoint as good bread can be made from the soft wheat flour as from hard wheat flour," said Mr. Shollenberger. "If it better in flavor, equal in texture and color, but not as high in volume and water absorption."

He spoke highly of the tests made with soft winter wheat flour in baking trials. He also emphasized the point that more products should be used in the localities where they are produced, pointing out that it is good business for Hoosiers to use more of the Indiana wheat flour than to ship out half of that produced in the state and then ship in more to take its place.

no doubt stimulate an increased interest in the contest.

The full particulars of the meeting and tour will be announced later.

Goshen — Sidney Mew, a home town boy with the U. S. S. Henderson, will make the trip to Alaska when President Harding visits the territory.

Kokomo — School children will conduct a "buy a brick campaign" to help finance the new Howard county hospital.

TO COMMENCE CULLING LATTER PART OF JULY

Plan is To Hold Demonstration In Each Township In County Where Interest Is Shown

THREE BREEDS PREFERRED

The county agent announces that a series of poultry culling demonstrations will be held the latter part of July. The plan is to hold a demonstration in each township in the county where interest in the work is shown.

Farmers interested in having one of these meetings at their farms, and incidentally get their flocks culled, should get in touch with the county agent at once. On account of the limited time that can be devoted to this line of work, the county agent says that only one demonstration will be held in a township.

It is preferred to hold the demonstration on a farm centrally located in the township so as to enable as many people to reach the meeting as possible. Flocks of Barred Rocks, White Rocks or R. I. Reds are preferred as these are the predominating breeds in the county. In perhaps two townships there are enough flocks of leghorns to warrant using a flock of leghorns as a demonstration flock. White skinned varieties are not desirable for the demonstration for the reason that the color tests for egg production can not be demonstrated.

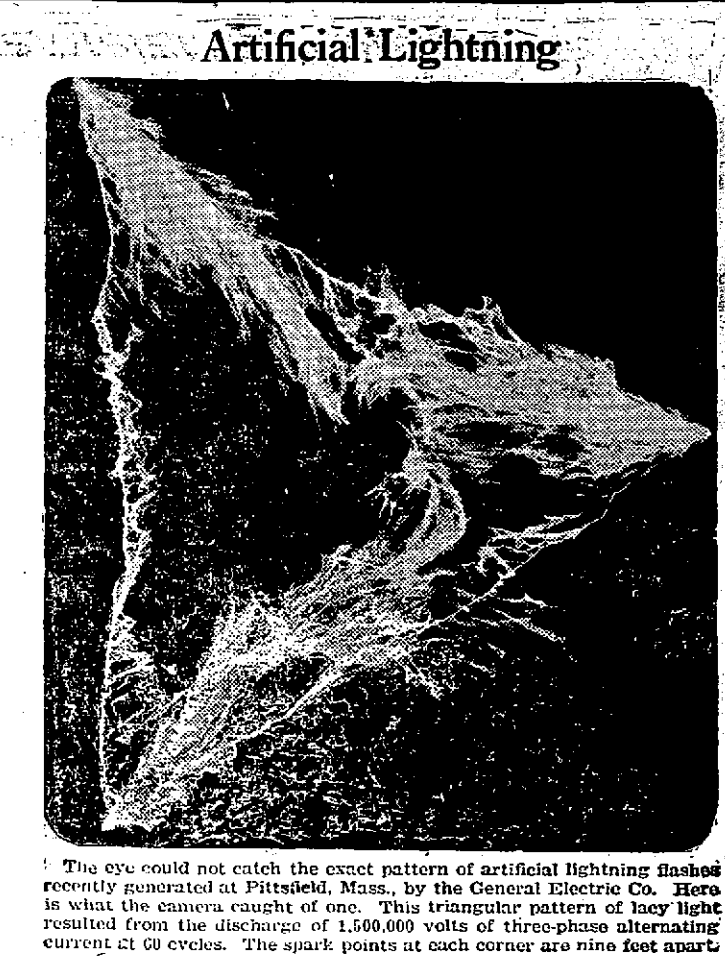

Applications will be considered in the order in which they are received in determining where the meeting is to be held in each township, and location, size of flock and the breed will largely determine the place of the demonstration.

Co-operative Marketing

Agriculture produces enough to feed the people the year around but some of this production should be stored to eliminate the over supply at the times of harvest or during periods of high production. It can then be thrown upon the market in accordance with consumptive demands.

Co-operative marketing is still in its infancy. In a few localities where farmers have been properly organized and provided themselves with adequate facilities to store their products they have been able to considerably stabilize prices, to the advantage of both producer and consumer.

Farmers are looking for a scientific merchandising basis upon which to market their products. It is extremely important that they organize rightly on the commodity basis and secure efficient enable management and adequate financing. This cannot be done in a day, a week, or a month nor in five or ten years. It must be by gradual growth and development. The problem is so important it demands the best thought of not only farmers but educators, bankers and other business men. —Banker-Farmer.

The eye could not catch the exact pattern of artificial lightning flashes recently generated at Pittsfield, Mass., by the General Electric Co. Here is what the camera caught of one. This triangular pattern of lacy light resulted from the discharge of 1,500,000 volts of three-phase alternating current at 60 cycles. The spark points at each corner are nine feet apart.

CHICKENS DIE AFTER EATING ROSE BEETLES

Beetles Contain A Poison And When Eaten Have A Toxic Effect On Chickens, Usually Fatal

CONTROL IS DIFFICULT

Numerous complaints have been received by the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station from poultrymen of various sections of Indiana, particularly southern Indiana, relative to death of chickens after feeding on rose beetles. It is a well known fact, according to Prof. J. J. Davis of Department of Entomology at Purdue that rose beetles contain a poison and when eaten have a toxic effect on chickens, an effect which in the case of chicks under six weeks of age is usually fatal.

Rose beetles are small light brown beetles, a little smaller than a potato beetle and appear during June, feeding on the foliage of various plants, particularly rose, grape, berries of various kinds and even trees, such as walnut, and field crops such as corn. They are the adults of small white grubs which live in sandy soil and feed on the roots of grass and other crops.

"Control is rather difficult. In the case of poultry, movable brooder houses will enable the poultryman to transfer his young birds to places not frequented by the beetles. The most effective spray to destroy the beetles feeding on foliage is a solution of arsenate of lead and molasses, using 2 pounds of lead to 50 gallons of water, to which is added 2 gallons of cheap molasses. Cultivation of sandy areas or growing of wide row crops in such areas and maintaining a thorough cultivation during the period when the beetles are active will hinder egg laying and minimize trouble for the following years," says Prof. Davis.

individuality and his initiative. He would become a governmental dependent. This seems a sorry method when contrasted to the higher type of democracy which co-operative marketing and adequate credit are seeking out to develop.

Let the farmer alone to work out his economic salvation on the road which he has chosen. Help him attain his object for the good of the whole people. He will then get a just price, he will have homes comparable with the homes of other people, farms equipped for efficiency, houses furnished for comfort and beauty, good roads and automobiles, education—a new day in agriculture.

Governmental price-fixing will not do it. The farmer's own economic program—co-operative marketing, intermediate credit, warehouse receipts, crop insurance—will.

GRAIN MOTH IS TROUBLE MAKER

Large Sections in Southwest Part of State Were Damaged Last Year by Wheat Moth

CONTROL SIMPLE AND GOOD

Purdue Offers Solution to Stamp Larva of The Angoumois and Eliminate Vast Loss

Last year much of the wheat in southern Indiana and particularly in the southwestern corner of the state was infested with and badly damaged by the larva of the Angoumois Grain Moth before the crop was threshed. This loss, which was very large in some sections, could have been practically eliminated if precautions had been taken in promptly harvesting and threshing the grain, say entomologists at Purdue University.

The Angoumois grain moth, so-named because it was introduced during the early settlement of this country from the province of Angoumois in France, occurs throughout the United States. While it may sometimes damage corn in storage in the north, it is most destructive to corn and wheat, particularly the latter, in the field or in unthreshed grain, in southern Indiana and farther south. The greater importance of the insect farther south is due to the larger number of generations which may result in the longer seasons. In southern Indiana the moths, issuing from the grain stored in graineries, fly to the field and lay eggs, in the case of wheat, in the grain heads. The resulting larva burrows into the grain and develops, the first moths of the second generation appearing about harvest and lay eggs on the ripening grain. If wheat is left unthreshed in the mow or in stacks successive generations of larvae which increase rapidly, may practically ruin the crop.

"The control is simple and effective," says Prof. J. J. Davis of Purdue. "Thresh the grain soon after harvest, the sooner the better, and store wheat in bulk, preferably in deep bins where only a thin top layer will be exposed to the moths as places to lay eggs. Before storing wheat in bins they should be thoroughly cleaned, sweeping up and destroying all old grain and refuse, and if necessary spraying the cracks and crevices with kerosene or a creosote disinfectant. If these practices are made a regular routine the wheat grower will practically eliminate the losses now caused by the larvae of the Angoumois grain moth."

Nothing to Worry About

(Farm Life)

Many persons are much distressed because the farm population is decreasing. We do not see why they should be concerned about the fact. It is natural. Machinery takes the place of human hands, and the machinery is made in city factories. The man who makes a plow is an agricultural worker, helping to produce bread for the world. So is the man who mines the iron and processes it, the man who gets out the timber for the wooden beam, the man who transports the material, the man who sells it. This obvious fact has been pointed out in these columns before, but it will stand repeating now when the world seems alarmed to learn that the farm population is falling off. There are many people now living who can remember when clothing was made and tailored on the farm, when leather was tanned on the farm, when logs were cut and hewn or sawed for the farm buildings, when fencing material was produced on the farm, when only the simplest tools and vehicles were used, and when even these were largely manufactured on the farm or in the nearby village. The farmer did not need money, then, but labor. Now, when so much of his work is done in town the farmer needs money to pay for this help. The heart of the problem lies, not in keeping more people on the farms, but in a sufficient price for farm products, so that country labor and city labor will be on an equitable basis. All this, of course, is obvious and commonplace, and everybody is supposed to know it—and everybody forgets it most of the time.

will have a complete scheme of credits for production and marketing. By using his crop insurance policies and his warehouse receipts, the farmer could market his products co-operatively and distribute them in an orderly manner throughout the twelve consumptive months rather than dumping them on a glutted market immediately after harvest.

In his letter Mr. Silver takes note of the surplus problem. He shows that by the new credits system and co-operative marketing the farmer will have his surplus in his own hands and he will automatically plan to rid himself of the burden through balanced production.

Those who belong to the price-fixing school of thought have a laudable objective, believes the Farm Bureau's legislative director, but they do not consider into what serious difficulties their method would lead. It would take away the farmer's right to negotiate with the other organized groups and would place him between the upper millstone of a fixed price on what he buys and the nether millstone of a fixed price on what he sells. Without the incentive to organize and to trade the farmer would lose his

DISCUSS CONTROL OF CATTLE LOSSES

Chicago Live Stock Exchange Confer With Sec. Wallace On Losses From Hemorrhagic Septicemia

SITUATION IS EXPLAINED

To Put Into Effect Addition Control Measures To Prevent As Far As Possible Such Losses

A committee from Chicago, Illinois, representing the Traders Live Stock Exchange and the Chicago Live Stock Exchange, visited the department to confer with Secretary Wallace and Dr. Mohler, Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, in regard to the serious losses from hemorrhagic septicemia that have been occurring in feeder and stocker cattle in practically all sections of the Corn Belt.

This committee, which consisted of Everett Brown, president, Chicago Live Stock Exchange, E. Clinton Adams, president, Traders Live Stock Exchange, C. E. Day, of the firm of J. L. Lawler, and E. G. Fulkerson, president National Live Stock Commission Company, explained the situation with special reference to the losses in feeder and stocker cattle purchased at public stock yards, and urged upon the department the importance to the livestock interests of the country of putting into effect additional control measures to prevent, so far as possible, such losses.

After an extended discussion of every phase of this subject, it was the consensus of opinion that, in addition to continuing the control measures now in effect of prohibiting the shipment of visibly sick animals and requiring the cleaning and disinfection of premises and cars known to be infected, all stockyards regularly used in the feeding, watering and resting of livestock en route to public markets and the division in such markets set aside for the handling of feeder and stocker cattle should be cleaned and disinfected at stated intervals; that arrangements will be made by the department with the railroads to supervise the disinfection of cars, which cars will be furnished to the shippers upon request; and that the department will produce and furnish vaccine for all shippers who might wish to have their animals vaccinated before shipment from any of the large central markets, the cost of the vaccination to be paid out of funds furnished by the livestock exchange or similar organizations at the market centers. It was agreed that this treatment should be optional with the owner in each instance, but that every effort should be made to encourage shippers to have their animals vaccinated before loading them onto the cars for movement to country points.

AGRICULTURE NEXT

(Farm Life)

Farming is the next great industry to be taken up and developed and re-organized and put upon a basis of permanent prosperity.

Already farming has begun to emerge from the confusion caused by changing methods in world finance and commerce. A rapid re-adjustment will bring immediate relief to farmers. They will prosper during the re-organization, and before twenty years have passed, say thoughtful men, a complete revolution in agriculture will have taken place.

If you want to make a mental picture of agriculture in 1940—after the present uncertain gropings for co-operation, finance, marketing, production and distribution have taken form and order—you may look at what has happened in other lines of human endeavor.

Twenty years ago there was no automobile industry.

Twenty years ago the steel industry was disorganized, incoherent and struggling.

Twenty years ago railroading, coal federal reserve system, and there was a constant fear of recurring money panics because of our uncertain methods of banking.

Twenty years ago, the Wright Brothers flew their crude little machine for half a mile over the sands of Kitty Hawk—and a month ago Macready and Kelley hopped from the Atlantic to the Pacific in a single flight at the rate of a hundred miles an hour.

Twenty years ago railroading, coal mining, lumbering and other great national enterprises were conducted on a competitive, cut-throat basis—and now they are organized, controlled, and efficiently prosperous.

Twenty years ago farming was much what it is today, save now it has made its start toward organized efficiency and prosperity. It has always been the world's first business, though it is about the last to readjust itself to modern conditions.

general tendency for the county Farm Bureaus to select lines of work for their county organizations that are going to put actual money into the pockets of the members of the organization that have paid their dues.

H. H. Morrell, Membership Manager for the California Farm Bureau Federation, states that 20,000 members already secured in that state from 33 counties, have been secured by volunteer solicitors at cost of 27c per member. Upon this ratio, California will show over 27,000 members for the year, which is an increase of about 20 percent over last year's paid up membership.

Renewal membership campaigns have been going on in thirteen counties in Ohio under the direction of F. L. Shoenberger, Director of Organization. These renewal campaigns demonstrate the fact that the farmers of Ohio, after three years' trial of the Farm Bureau, are coming back into the organization for another three year membership, truly satisfied that they have received their money's worth.

Secretary Thomas J. Brough of the Wyoming Farm Bureau Federation reports that up to date they have received better than 50 percent of last year's membership and as the drives in that state were delayed it is predicted that by the middle of July the membership will have exceeded that of last year.

Montana is getting more counties to go upon a ten dollar membership and since crop conditions are more favorable in that state than they have been in the last few years, the prospects are for an increased state membership, according to W. L. Stockton, President of the organization.

Secretary Fuller of North Dakota reports eight counties organized for renewal membership campaigns with members taking advantage of reduced prices on binder twine in connection with their Farm Bureau memberships.

Secretary Jones of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation reports solicitors working in some of the counties changing over the form of membership to a regular three-year contract. Redwood County expects to finish soon with one thousand signed up members.

Secretary McNutt of Arkansas writes that 600 Farm Bureau members in White County are members of the strawberry shipping association and that through the assistance of Mr Sandberg of the transportation Department of the American Farm Bureau Federation, much needed refrigerator car service has been supplied the organization, all of which helps to stimulate the interest and appreciation in the benefits to be derived through their membership in the Farm Bureau.

ALFALFA TOURS IN 5 COUNTIES

Pulaski, Noble, Adams, Marshall and Benton Farmers Show Their Interest in Project

MANY FARMERS TURNED OUT

Sections in all Counties Were Visited and Study Made of Legumes—Purdue Gave Help

The interest in legumes in northern Indiana manifested itself in a series of five alfalfa tours held June 4 to 8. Because of the loss of clover this winter and because a great many men lose it periodically, the better farmers are putting in a small acreage of alfalfa, running from 4 to 15 acres, as legume insurance that their cows will not be without a good feed, whether clover lives or dies.

A tour was held in Pulaski County with about 60 farmers studying conditions, extending from sand to clay ground. L. C. Hodgen had an old blow sand hill well established in alfalfa where he had not taken a crop off for eight years due to the pooriness and the blowing of the sand. By using proper methods he obtained this good stand of alfalfa. Similar conditions were seen in the county where men did the right thing, but where any of the conditions necessary for alfalfa growth were lacking, poor stands or failures were the result.

In Noble County the tour covered 67 miles, visiting eight fields, showing some excellent stands and bringing out reasons why conditions must be made right for successful growth. The Pure Seeds Committee in this county, cooperating with the county agent, had the tour in charge.

Two sections of Adams county were covered, and it was interesting to note that in the section where a small tour was held last year the alfalfa acreage was more than doubled. Drainage is one of the big problems there, and when the men saw the alfalfa two feet or more high over the tile and then gradually sloping off to nothing between the tile where they were too far apart, it drove home the point of proper drainage for alfalfa.

In Marshall County, where it is reported there is a larger acreage of alfalfa now than there is red clover due to the last four years' activities in demonstrating to the farmers of the county the best ways of growing alfalfa, the tour extended down the Michigan road and many fields were seen in different stages of development. Some showed good stands and the reasons for these were pointed out, while the reasons for those showing failures were also pointed out.

In Benton County, where last year the interest was not strong, this year brought out an excellent tour and showed some good stands from last year's seeding.

The general methods used in getting excellent stands of alfalfa as outlined by W. A. Ostrander, soils and crops extension staff of Purdue University, who was on each tour, are, first, drainage—either natural or supplied; the liberal use of limestone where it is needed, and the word liberal should not be overlooked; proper preparation of the seed bed. "The time of seeding has more to do with how the seed bed is prepared than the season of the year," said Mr. Ostrander. "If one can get ready in time, April is a good time to see. If he cannot get ready by April, June will do well, and if he has still more time in August, early August seeding will succeed, but in a very dry year it is pretty hard on the alfalfa plant to get established so it can carry through the winter. In all cases, the seed should be inoculated. Men find it profitable to use Grimm seed. Not much more than half as much as common is needed and it stands the hard winters much better. To be safe buy certified Grimm seed in sealed sacks."

NEW WOOL STANDARD EFFECTIVE JULY 1

Official Grades for United States Approved Under Authority of U. S. Warehouse Act

PROVIDE FOR SEVEN GRADES

Official standards for grades of wool for the United States have been approved by the Secretary of Agriculture to become effective July 1, 1923, under authority in the United States warehouse act.

The standards provide for seven grades of wool as follows: fine; one-half blood; three-eighths blood; one-fourth blood; common and braid. For the purposes of grading, it is provided that wool in the fleece shall be designated by the grade of the largest portion of the fibre of the fleece.

Establishment of these standards is the result of investigations conducted for several years by the Department of Agriculture. The properties of wool which have been studied are: diameter of fibre, length of fibre, spinning quality, shrinkage, and fineness of fibre. Public hearings were held at which suggestions of the trade and manufacturers were made. Further studies will be made to develop a standard terminology for length, standards for spinning quality, shrinkage, and foreign matter in wool, to be promulgated in the future.

Dealers in builders' supplies usually have powdered pyrethrum. The importance of making the first application when the first individual beetles are observed cannot be over-emphasized and likewise the method of application is important. By far the best results can be obtained by applying with a dust gun which will envelop the entire plant with a fine film of dust. Such guns for home gardens cost $1.00. Larger types cost $15.00 to $18.00 and $25.00.

Experiments to date do not warrant recommending the nicotine dust to control the cucumber beetle in Indiana.

Other townships will be taken care of just as soon as enough applications are received to enable the work to be carried on efficiently.

The county agent, who is the leader in the work, is following the policy of holding up applications in a township until there is at least a full day's testing work in the township before calling in a tester, for the reason that the more herds that are tested in the locality, the more work can be done with the same amount of driving and expense.

SPACING AFFECTS CORN PRODUCTION

The results are of particular interest to the southern portion of the United States where both the single-ear and prolific types of corn are more or less commonly grown.

The single-ear type is described as having resulted from continuous selection toward one large ear per stalk, although under favorable conditions two well-developed ears may be produced. As contrasted with the single-ear type, the prolific is distinguished by the normal production of more than one ear per stalk. The ears usually are smaller.

As both types are grown extensively, it is of agronomic interest to know which yields more efficiently under ordinary field conditions where the production of the plants is likely to be influenced by irregularity of stand and by the inequalities of germination, soil, and growing conditions. The purpose of the present investigation was to study the reaction of these types under conditions that provided a wide range in the environment, obtained in this case by altering the spacing of the plants.

In these experiments the prolific type was more production than the single-ear type. It also was more efficient in increasing the yield per plant and in increasing the number of ears per plant. While the single-ear type was more efficient in increasing the weight of the ear, the prolific type produced a larger yield per acre because increasing the number of ears was more effective than increasing the weight of the individual ears.

The experiments indicate that in sections to which both types are adapted in general the prolific will be the most productive under conditions of general field culture because of its better adjustment to varying conditions.

CHILDREN BEST "CROP" ON FARMS

is raised in the city. In this period of unrest we are certainly interested in rearing both on the farms and in the cities boys and girls with the proper outlook for the future, imbued with the belief that the activity in which they are engaged is, after all, something that will provide them both with the necessary things of life and with happiness. For in happiness there is contentment, and in contentment in America there is safety for our institutions.

Every single banker should feel that the problems his farmer customers have to contend with are not only the farmer's problems but his problems as well. He should feel not only that the farmer must be prosperous so that he can deposit more in his bank, giving the banker more to loan and thereby increasing his profits, but that also there is something which cannot be measured in dollars and cents. It is the thought of rendering such service to their customers—regardless of whether they are farmers, or men working in the shops, or big business men of the cities—that will bring not only prosperity but contentment as well. The banker should take as his motto: "Who serves best profits most."

the county have ten members in the state organization of corn growers to qualify for the appropriation, and this county has already more than twice the required number of members in the Indiana Corn Growers Association.

In the organization of the local corn growers the county was divided into three sections and a director for each of these sections was elected at the organization meeting. Franklin Wagoner is director for Orange, Anderson and Richland township and he has selected Russel Cavender and Harold Beall as helpers in the district in the membership campaign.

N. P. Jones of Center township is Washington townships and he has selected Earl Sears and Chase Hiner as his assistants in the campaign. Newton Halterman of Nashville township is director for Nashville, Noble and Walker townships. He will select his helpers in the campaign.

The director for the remaining three townships is W. O. Swain of Posey township. Mr. Swain's helpers in the membership campaign will be Howard Ewbank and E. G. Jones. Farmers interested in corn improvement and in seeing the 'Rush county corn show grow and improve should see one of the above men and join the organization.
